Chakki river

A nearly century-old colonial-era railway bridge on the Chakki river connecting Pathankot in Punjab with Kangra in Himachal Pradesh collapsed due to heavy rainfall.

- Chakki river is one of the tributaries of Beas River.
- It flows through Himachal Pradesh and Punjab and merges with Beas near Pathankot.
- It is fed by snow and rain in the Dhauladhar mountains.
- It is now on the verge of drying up as Punjab's neighbouring state of Himachal Pradesh (HP) is almost ready with a dam on its side of the river.
