

Ghughwa National Fossils Park

By IASToppers | 2024-05-28 15:30:00

Ghughwa National Fossils Park

Archaeologists have recently found prehistoric artefacts made from fossil wood at Ghughwa National Fossil Park, Madhya Pradesh.

- These artefacts suggest ancient hunter-gatherers' use of fossilised tree trunks for tools and artefacts.

[ref-tripadvisor]

About Ghughwa National Fossils Park:

- It was recognised as a National Park in 1983.
- The park features plants in fossil form that existed in India between 40 million and 150 million years ago.
- It houses preserved fossils of woody plants like eucalyptus, date palm, and neem, as well as climbers, leaves, flowers, fruits, and even a dinosaur egg fossil.